1989, Aug – England Trip

In 1989, largely through the efforts of the late Captain "Derm" Wilson, a former member of the Royal Green Jackets, a group of cadets visited England and were hosted by 2nd Battalion, The Queen's Regiment (The Queen's Own Buffs) which is allied with The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

Cadets visited nearby British Army units and were able to practise navigation and field skills alongside members of the host regiment.

Cadet Lieutenant Shaun Bridge, then senior cadet, was honoured by being asked to turn a page in The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada's Book of Remembrance during a ceremony in the Warriors' Chapel at Canterbury Cathedral.

In 1992, the cadets were again invited to visit The Queen's Regiment, this time during its deployment to Minden, Germany.
